

Virginia Marco, Psychic Medium
July 7, 2001
Bolton Hall Museum

Phenomena Witnessed By Investigator:

There were six ghosts in the establishment:

-When you enter the museum, at the left-side corner there is a US soldier, standing, from W.W.!!.

He had on a hat with beige trimming, 5'8", white skin, sandy hair color. He does not belong there but he likes it there. He found a home there.

-Going towards the right side, there is a fireplace. There is a woman with long blond hair up in a bun, dressed in a Victorian style, her dress was off-white, mid-ankle length and the slip was showing. Her name was Marlina.

- Towards the storage room, there is a female child, around 9 years old. Long red hair, her clothes were also Victorian style, knee-length, and white dress with pink ribbons. She died of yellow fever. Outside, in front of the museum hung a swing for her on a tree.

-In the storage room, I saw two old men, one did not have his left eye, and his other eye is a bright blue. The other had his ankle amputated just under the knee. They both have long white hair, salt-and-pepper beards, and their pants were beige and off-white shirt, very dirty. That storage room was a jail, and they had a picture to prove it. In the jail a window faces towards the street. There is a circle of breath. That is where the men lean on it to see the street because they cannot get out.

- There is an office on the left side of the museum. I saw a very well-dressed man, 6 feet tall, very sad. He keeps closing a door, I asked why and he responded that it is to keep people away from the place because he likes that place like it is his home. I saw a picture of the man in the museum later and he turned out to be a former judge there.