

The Andleberry Estate 7-13-02. By Psychic Medium Virginia Marco

In this particular house, I saw two houses in one dimension. When I touched the house, I felt that it was something else before it was an asylum. I saw a male ghost in the living room. He does not speak. In the kitchen I saw three ghosts: Bertha, Paul, and the last one could not speak. This last ghost could not speak because his body had deteriorated when he was alive. He looked anorexic. In the cooking area, I saw a male ghost. He was fat and tall, named William. He was the cooker, 65 yrs. old. In the second floor, I saw the ghost of an old woman named Mary sitting in a rocking chair in the corner of the hallway. She told me that she was very unhappy because the chair was not supposed to be there. Later on, De De moved the chair to the next room close to the window. Jose took a picture and the body of Mary appeared at the window. She told me that now she was happy because she could see outside again. In the basement there were three rooms. In one of the rooms, they punished old people for peeing in the bed and other things that the staff disliked. There was a large feeling of misery in the basement. In the attic, I saw an African-American male ghost named Ahmel. His three front teeth were missing and was around 70 yrs. old. He was homeless. He showed me how he put his coats on the floor and slept on them. I asked him what year it was for him. He said 1975. Then Chad showed me a document that he just found stating the year construction on the attic was finished, which was 1975. Ahmel died in this attic of a heart attack. In the backyard, to the side, I saw the ghost of an old man strangling a 3 or 4 yr. old boy. But the boy was not there, it was only residual energy from the past that the old man was reliving. The people who live in the house can hear the cries of the little child. With the permission of the people, I sent the old man to the light of God because his problem was not that he was an evil man, he was mentally disturbed. In conclusion, the Andleberry Estate is haunted.
