

DICLOSE LOCATION by Virginia Marco assistant Director ofSGVPR

On a dark night in September 7,2002 at a disclose location, currently, it is empty-empty, that is, except for the spirits that resided there.

The SGVPR started walking toward these long and dark corridors; I call upon the ghost to appear in front of me and they did! The first male ghost to appear was a soldier, a Lieutenant front WWII he told me his name Joe Pickman, a tall man 6'2", blond hair, green eyes, he had a small and thin mustache over his lips, he was wearing a soldier uniform. He told me that he was worried because he can't find his troop! Right in that moment a male child ghost appear whistling over and over the same song, a child song, he was 12 years old, blond curly hair, white shirt and dark shorts, he was from 1900s.

We kept walking into those dark corridors and right in front of me a adult male ghost appeared and he touch my arm, he, the male ghost was an native American Indian from the 1700s, long brown hair he was wearing a traditional Indian pants color dark beige no shirt and the estrange thing was that he had one white feather in the middle of the forehead stands up. He told me very proudly" I am Hopi" then he covered his face with both hands and nodded his head side by side and he replied, " I am lost"

After the research and investigation the Director Diane Melvin and the association members decide to send the three ghosts to the light of God.

The ghosts deserved to rest.
